TRUST LINKS HIGH PERFORMING PROGRAMS TO UNDERPERFORMING SCHOOLS

The Arts and Culture programs support 30,510 students in 192 CPS Elementary Schools and 27 CPS High Schools.

Over 50% of schools funded by The Trust are in lower socio-economic tiers

CRITERIA FOR HIGH PERFORMING PROGRAM

Engaging – Has teaching artists, supplies, activities, experiences that resonate with targeted students;

Rigorous – Has Unit Plans with clearly defined learning outcomes that challenge the students and build their skills in the stated artistic discipline, academic area, and/or social/emotional growth;

Consistent – Offers (ideally) at least 30 contact hours per student per year;

Sequential – Provides a progression of skills and opportunities over time as students advance;

Effective – Documents the extent to which each student progresses toward the achievement of the stated outcomes, and uses this information to refine the unit planning process and as a performance management tool for all teaching artists;

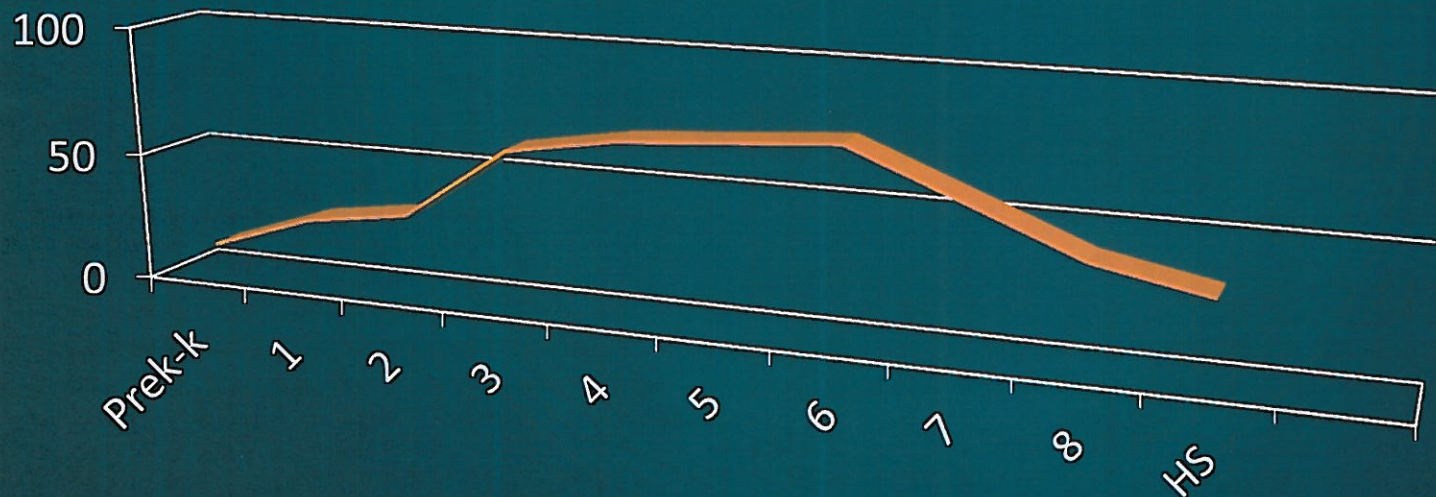

Fosters a culture of continuous learning – consistently provides professional development for its staff to stay current and share knowledge, as well as to set an example for students.
